A Vision with a Mission

A national union with a vision is not enough. With so much of the focus on creating a vision for the future of education we must not lose sight of our mission, nor our current members. I will push your elected national officers to not just talk about concepts and beliefs. We must push for measures and actions that have a real impact on the lives of students, on your campuses and in your colleges. We must ensure we display our impact on both current and future students.

Supporting Activities

Student Activities are a fantastic driver of involvement in our Students' Unions. So many future leaders come through our sports clubs, societies, enterprise and volunteering groups. It is essential that NUS looks to promote and develop student led activities. Whether promoting the value of personal development through committee positions or offering advice on how to get started at an FE college, to ignore activities is to ignore thousands of future leaders.

Cut the jargon

The majority of our 7 million members have no idea about the great work of NUS. Talk to any average student using terminology like "tertiary education" and they will instantly lose interest. We talk in acronyms and jargon which alienates all but the most involved. I will break through the 70 odd pages of NEC papers and communicate on relevant issues using everyday language. I will aim to help your unions more effectively engage your students in the work of NUS.
